Love is a force of complication
Intricately detailed and designed
Created for beauty and happiness,
Sometimes ending in the depth of a broken heart.
People change for the better or worse
Sometimes creating a marvelous advocate,
But every so often,
A wronged soul.
Love is a magical thing
That can change these dark clouds of black
Into wonderful hazes of light.
One can live a long life
Of despair and sorrow

V E

Or decide to go a different way,
And find something extraordinary:

Love is found within us all

Occasionally buried deep,

Variables of love articulate life

Each person knows which kind to keep.

Love is the only thing holding us together

Why do we love
Why do we hate
Why do we include
When others negate

Why do we bully
Why are we mean
Why do we do this
It isn't serene

Why do we welcome
Why do we not
Why do we do some things that others cannot

Why do we stand there and wait
Why don't we stand up

Don't wait!

Don't wait until it's over

Stand up!

Act!

If we want bullying and racism to end

Act!

For even the meanest of bullies have an opening
Only to be found by the warmest of love

As warm as fire pit burning amongst the evening stars
As warm as a beautiful geyser erupting from the lake of warm water
As the love pierces through the bad it opens up more good

The more the love
The stronger it grows
The warmer the love
The faster it goes

Soon the enemy becomes a friend
And boom you've done it
You have a new friend

For if I were to write a letter to love
I would know exactly what I would say

Dear love:     You are what brings peace to the world
                  You are what makes this world so brilliant
                  Out of everything you stand out the most
                  I hope someday that bullying and racism can be stopped

Permanently

Love

Why hate? Why fight? We can all grieve. We can all love. We are all different, and yet, some still fight people who are different from them.

Show some love to someone new and they may show some back to you. Show love to the world and the people around you. They may not reflect love right away, but if you try, you will find love in unexpected places and from unexpected people.

Show love to someone and even if they don't give back, you may have helped them through a difficult time and shined a beam of hope that brightens their day. Spread love to people who aren't your friends and you will have more friends and lovers sooner than you think.

How do we Measure a Person?

A sonnet adapted by the quote of MLK

Written by Sara Ali, 8th grade

How do we judge or understand someone
You'll think to look at personality
They are strong and confident like the sun
They promise to stand for what they believe
And so you accept their every try
During times comfort they're words are true
But when times of controversy arrive
You'll ask for them to help and stand with you
But they won't and will play the excuse card
And it's then that their true colors come through
You say to stand even when it is hard
It is then your realization grew
You will realize that to judge a mind
You see if they stand through hard times
